

PsycTESTS is a repository for ready-to-use psychological tests and measures from the American Psychological Association (APA). Updated monthly, PsycTESTS features instruments that are relevant to psychology and related fields, such as psychiatry, education, medicine, business, social work and more. International in scope, this resource provides access to thousands of actual test instruments, most of which are available for immediate download and use in teaching and research. PsycTESTS is an authoritative source of structured information about tests of interest to a variety of fields, and while focused on contemporary instances of test use, has coverage that spans more than a century.

PsycTESTS includes:

- Tests that were originally developed for research and were not made commercially available
- A growing selection of multilingual test instruments
- Information about select tests that are available from commercial test publishers

Each detailed test record includes a summary, background information, development history, purpose, reliability and validity data (when available), test format and the citation for the peer-reviewed source document.

PsycEXTRA is a bibliographic and full-text database that complements PsycINFO and the other APA databases, with extensive coverage of gray literature relating to psychology and the behavioral sciences. Document types include technical, annual and government reports, conference papers, newsletters, magazines, newspapers, consumer brochures and more

PsycEXTRA contains more than 280,000 records that are not indexed in any other APA database, and content from the Archives of the History of American Psychology (AHAP) collection is expected to increase the number of records substantially.

In addition, PsycEXTRA is indexed with controlled vocabulary from APA's Thesaurus of Psychological Index Terms®.

PsycCRITIQUES contains tens of thousands of full-text, psychologically-relevant book reviews from the APA features current scholarly and professional books in psychology.
