Profile of the programme
Study content: discipline(s)/subject area(s)	Orientation of the programme	Distinctive features
All the intended courses are within the study field of Law. The programme consists of 15 compulsory courses.	The programme is oriented towards academic research and professional practice: main fields of study for qualification are organized in a way which enables the graduates to put into practice the acquirements and capacities with skills for further self-guided academic research. The master of Private Law study programme has the skills deepening character, aiming at further specialization within the Civil Law area prior studied by the learners in their bachelor-phase education studies.	The study programme is the first joint programme in Lithuania in the field of private law carried out in two high education institutions – Mykolas Romeris University (Lithuania) and Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv (Ukraine). The study programme will be performed in English language and it will give individuals the opportunity to gain a Master of Laws degree in two high education institutions.
Qualification requirements and regulations
According to the Description of the Lithuanian Qualifications Framework, level VII qualifications are acquired through graduate university (II cycle) studies. The qualification provides for complex activities consisting of different interrelated tasks which may cover several related areas of professional activities. That is the reason why the performance requires expert evaluation of the most recent knowledge in the close and more distanced areas of activities; discovery of new facts in applied research of the professional activity area, creative theoretical knowledge and application of the results of scientific research. The activities are performed independently, by way of setting prerogatives of an activity area, making independent decisions, which are oriented towards improvement and perfection of the activities. The activities imply managing the activities of other employees, thus qualifications of this level include abilities to independently carry out applied research, to provide consultations in an area of activities, to coordinate projects related to the upgrading of other individuals' qualifications and implementation of innovations, to analyse and present activity results. As the technological, management and organizational progress is witnessed in all areas of activities, the activities and their environment are subject to constant change, the changes are difficult to anticipate, the activities consist of volatile combinations of tasks. The activity change requires the ability to make innovative decisions based on research results, to assess alternative solutions and possible social and ethic consequences of the activities.
