ARCHEOLOGICAL SITE

108 9, 14222 Dūkštos

This historic archaeological settlement consists of 5 fort mounds with a nearby town built in Pajauta Valley. Remarkably, remnants of a III-IV century town were discovered within the site, historians suggesting that its population was forced to relocate to the location of modern Kernavė upon the invasion of the Teutonic Order.

The archaeological site offers both outdoor and indoor activities. The site is famous for its annual St. John's Day Festival (June 24th), during which dances and ceremonials are held on the settlements.
