Challenging Gender Stereotypes in Digital Narratives: Research and Participation

„This session combines a concise presentation of the PSGENEQ project research with an interactive workshop. Participants will be organized into small teams, guided by facilitators, and engage in role-playing, empathy mapping, and other design-thinking exercises. The activities aim to help attendees recognize gender stereotypes, reflect on their impact, and explore the practical relevance of the project's recommendations, fostering discussion, awareness, and active learning for all“
